

Harvard University

TRAVELING FELLOWSHIP OPPORTUNITIES

In the fall of 2009, The Committee on General Scholarships will make a formal announcement to invite applications from students at Harvard University graduate and professional schools for traveling fellowship opportunities during 2010-2011. The list of expected fellowships, along with the approximate application deadlines are listed below. Formal applications and dates will be announced in the fall. Until the formal applications are available, additional information may be found on the Committee on General Scholarships webpage, www.scholarship.harvard.edu.

D.A.A.D. – German Academic Exchange Service Research Grant

*A ten-month research grant in Germany
Application deadline is in early October*

Fellowships for Academic Study in France

Application deadlines are in early November

Ecole Normale Superieure Exchange Fellowship

One academic year of study at Ecole Normale Superieure in Paris

Augustus Clifford Tower Fellowship

One academic year of study at any university in France

Harvard – China Fellowships

*One academic year of study or research in China
Application deadline is in early December*

The Luce Scholars Program

*A ten-month internship in Asia
Application deadline is in early October*

Kennedy, Knox, Sheldon Traveling Fellowships and Australian Graduate Research Scholarships

*One academic year of research or study abroad
Application deadlines begin in mid-November*

Students must be nominated for many of these fellowships by the Dean of their school, or the Dean's designated representative. Some of these fellowships are only available to students who have completed one full year of graduate study at the time of their application. For more information, including guidelines and applications, please contact GSD Student Services, at 617-495-5453.