

Articles

"Faculty project: Teardrop Park [Battery Park City, New York]", Harvard design magazine, Fall 2000, n.12, p.92-93

"Ein Hof mit Streifen", Garten + Landschaft, Feb. 1996, v.106, n.2, p.26-28

Van Valkenburgh, Michael, and Peter Del Tredici. "Restoring The Harvard Yard Landscape", Arnoldia, Spring 1994.

Van Valkenburgh, Michael & Carol, "Conceiving a Courtyard", Places, Spring 1990.

Van Valkenburgh, Michael & Van Valkenburgh, Carol Doyle, "Best laid plan: Gertrude Jekyll's brilliant planting and Edwin Lutyen's architectural mastery make Hestercombe a superb example of collaborative garden design". House & garden, Mar. 1989, v.161, no.3, p.150-[157]

"The Flower gardens of Gertrude Jekyll and their twentieth-century transformations" Design quarterly, no.137, 1987, p.[1-30]

"Notations of nature's process", Landscape architecture, Jan.-Feb. 1986, v.76, no.1, p.40-45

"Two Views of Landscape Design: A.E. Bye and Dan Kiley," Orion Quarterly, Spring 1985.

"Built Landscapes at Wave Hill," New York Times, August 11 1984.

"Ice: To Freeze on Walls," Landscape Architecture, January 1984.

"Illusion of Space," Garden Design, Vol. 1, No. 1, March 1982.

"Garden Spot for Half a House," Landscape Architecture, March 1981.

"Principles for the Design of a Mixed Use Development in Kendall Square, Cambridge, Massachusetts," Cambridge Redevelopment Authority, October 1978.

"Grade School Children's Use of and Attitudes about Two Play Areas in Carle Park, Urbana, Illinois," Proceedings of the Ninth Conference of the Environmental Design Research Association, Washington, D.C., April 1978.