Harvard Common Spaces

- Harvard's Common Spaces are designed to bring the University community together. To create areas on campus where students, faculty, staff, and visitors can engage with one another, discover and try new things, or simply relax. Please take the time to enjoy the events, performances and classes on the Plaza that bring the Harvard community together. Check out Harvard Common Space's calendar for upcoming events, such as these:

April 26 to April 29:

2018 Arts First Festival: Harvard's first annual showcase of student and faculty creativity.

March 19 to April 6:

- Spring on the Plaza: A selection of games on the Plaza including bocce, croquet, and mini golf, available daily from 11a.m.-8p.m., weather permitting.

DEPARTMENT ANNOUNCEMENT

DEVELOPMENT & ALUMNI RELATIONS:

“As the Grounded Visionaries campaign enters its final months (June 30, 2018 end date), the Development and Alumni Relations team is pleased to share that six new fellowships have been established during the 2017-2018 year. Fellowships broaden the range of diversity within our ranks and provide graduating students the freedom to make career choices based on their passions, rather than their financial obligations to pay back student loans.

Also, thank you to the many community members who joined for the March 6 opening of the Druker Design Gallery owing to the generosity of Ronald M. Druker LF'76 and the Bertram A. and Ronald M. Druker Charitable Foundation. The gift provides the necessary seed funding for the GSD to launch an ambitious renewal and new building expansion of Gund Hall to support focused work in design innovation. In recognition of the gift—the largest made to date to the GSD's current Grounded Visionaries campaign as well as the largest single gift from an individual in the school's history—the GSD will name its primary exhibition gallery the Druker Design Gallery.”
