Footnotes:

* Distributional Elective Requirements: Students must take a total of twelve units in two subject areas: Models of Development and Urban Systems and Forms. At least four units must be taken in each category. If a course appears on both lists, it can only be counted once.

** No more than fifty percent of units may be taken outside the GSD in a given term.

*** Students in their second term must complete an option studio offered by the UPD Department. Jointly offered options studios may not be eligible.

**** Students in their second year may meet their degree requirements by declaring one of three pathways. A student must complete at least one option studio in their second year. Candidates pursuing thesis in the spring must take an option studio and Thesis Prep (or approved alternative) in the fall term. Students who receive a grade of pass or higher in both first year studios are eligible to meet their degree requirements by declaring thesis for their final year or taking twenty units of courses in either the fall or spring.
